

2022 AG TOUR

Map

The following map details our journey for the day. We anticipate traveling for approximately one hour and ten minutes.

Placer County Ag Tour

"We're Going Nuts for Ag in Placer County"

Thank you for joining us for the 2022 Ag Tour! This year we will be visiting almond orchards, grazing operations and rice fields while discussing ag-related topics including the agriculture/urban interface and sustainable groundwater management!

2022 AG TOUR Destinations

Doty Ravine Preserve

The Doty Ravine Preserve, which encompasses 427 acres, is located northeast of Lincoln in Placer County. Protected since April 2015 by the Placer Land Trust's West Placer Habitat Protection Program, Doty Ravine Preserve is home to vernal pool grasslands and a riparian habitat. The preserve supports multiple on-going restoration projects including adaptive management through rotational livestock grazing.

GoPure Farms

GoPure Farms is a 1,500-acre orchard with approximately 218,000 almond trees, which are capable of producing an estimated 3.3 million pounds of almonds annually. Located near Country Acres Road and Baseline Road in west Roseville, GoPure Farms extends all the way to Phillips Road. Featuring five varieties of almonds, the orchard was developed in four phases starting in 2016.

McKenzie Seed Rice Farm

This 1,050-acre farm has the potential to harvest 10.5 million pounds of rice each year. Using 160 pounds of rice seed per acre, planting occurs in April and May with the harvest in Sept. and Oct. Established approximately 10 years ago, the McKenzie Seed Rice Farm is located along Phillips and Brewer roads to the north and west respectively and reaches to Country Acres Road in west Roseville. These fields provide habitat for ducks and geese each year on their Pacific Flyway trek from Canada to Mexico.
